List your qualifications for this appointment: My qualifications for becoming a part of the Youth Commission are organizational, communication, and teamwork skills. These three skills make me qualified for the Youth Commission because they help create a productive environment in which problems can be resolved.
List any service to the community including any prior appointments: I've volunteered within the Gilroy community on multiple occasions. most notably, I've volunteered for the downtown activities last summer and a few times throughout the school year last year. I've also participated as a tutor for the Academic & Wellness Center for over a year. Not only was I able to be more involved in our Gilroy community through these two endeavors, but I was able to make an impact of numerous people's lives.
What are your goals while serving on this Board/Commission/Committee? I have a few goals while serving on the Youth Commission. I hope to be a valuable member of this group by providing accurate and helpful feedback about the youth in Gilroy. I also hope to encourage other people my age to be more involved in our tight-knit community. Being more involved would help everyone become more connected and create a safer, more welcoming environment in our city.
Why are you the most qualified to serve on this Board/Commission/Committee? I am most qualified to serve on Youth Commission because of my past and current experiences. Being a part of Youth Commission requires good communication skills which I have gained from both taking a class in that specific area and also enacting those skills into my job. Currently, I work at Gilroy Gardens in the Admissions department which tends to receive various complaints throughout the day from guests. It is my job (and all of those whom work with me) to communicate back to the guests in a calm and respectful manner the appropriate information. This makes me most qualified to serve on the Youth Commission because in a similar way, I will listen to any specific youth issues that occur in our community and respond accordingly.
